1.Possessive adjectives

The possessive adjectives in English (also called 'possessive determiners') are: my, your, his, her, its, our and their. They say who something belongs to.

I have a house - this is my house.

You have a son - that is your son.

He has a bicycle - it is his bicycle.

She has a flat - it is her flat.

The dog has a toy – it is its toy.

We have a computer - it is our computer.

They have a car - it is their car.

2.Possessive pronouns

Possessive pronouns also say who something belongs to, but they replace the noun. So we use them alone. In this case, we don't use its. In English, the possessive pronouns are: mine, yours, his, hers, ours and theirs.

I have a house - this is mine.

You have a cat - it is yours.

He has a bicycle - it is his.

She has a flat - it is hers.

We have a computer - it is ours.

They have a car - it is theirs.

3.Reflexive pronouns

A reflexive pronoun is a pronoun that is used in the object position when the subject and the object of the sentence are the same.

Reflexive pronouns end in -self or -selves depending on whether they are singular or plural. All personal pronouns, including the impersonal pronoun "one", have a reflexive form.
