PRACTICE

Read the conversations and underline the phrases that are:

- asking for advice
- giving advice

Lucy: I got a dress from my mum but I don't really like it. What do you think I should do?

Carol: If I were you, I'd tell her. It might be an idea to go together to the shop and try to exchange it to another one.

Lucy: That's a good idea.

Sally: Paul, can you give me some advice?

Paul: Of course. What is it?

Sally: I saw my boyfriend with another girl. He didn't notice me, and when I asked him later about how he had spent his day, he didn't say anything. What would you do in my situation?

Paul: Well, I would tell him I saw him with a girl. Maybe she is a distant relative you don't know.

Sally: Oh, Paul. Don't be so naïve!

Read the following conversation and underline the polite requests and answers:

Sue: Ann, is there any chance I could borrow your iron today. Mine is broken, and I won't have time to buy a new one until Saturday.

Ann: Sure. When do you want to pick it up?

Sue: Well, I couldn't ask you to drop it at my place, could I? It's just that I have to be at home all evening. I'll be waiting for a delivery.

Ann: Fine, I can drop it round this evening. Then, why don't you order a new iron online?

Sue: Great idea! However, I'll need yours today. We are going out tonight, and I need to iron my favourite dress.

Ann: OK. But would it be possible for you to return it tomorrow?

Sue: Yes, of course.
