10. Listening 1

Shopping_10.1

Listen to Audio 1. Mark each sentence as T (true) or F (false).

1. The browser shopper likes to spend time and money. _____
2. The impulse shopper plans in advance. _____
3. Something that costs an arm and a leg is expensive. _____
4. Hunter is the noun of the verb 'to hunt'. _____
5. A methodical shopper keeps to his list. _____
6. Haggle means to argue. _____
7. When a person asks to pay less, they are asking for a discount. _____
8. The Brick and Mortar Stores is an invented name. _____
9. Shopping online is easy to do. _____
10. The brand loyalist doesn't return to the same store. _____

10. Listening 1

Shopping_10.2

Listen to Audio 1. Choose the correct answer

1. What is the meaning of 'browsing' in this text?
   A to go on internet
   B to look around

2. What usually costs an arm and a leg?
   A something expensive
   B something cheap

3. What does a bargain hunter look for?
   A the best price
   B the best product

4. What is a purpose for the browsers?
   A to waste time
   B to make a deal

5. What does the impulse shopper plan in advance?
   A a list of articles to buy
   B nothing

10. Listening 1

6. The browser shopper is opposite to
   A methodical shopper
   B impulse shopper

7. What does the haggler want when they go shopping?
   A a discount
   B a fair price

8. Brick and Mortar Stores is an old-fashioned name to say _____.
   A physical stores
   B invented stores

9. What is one of the benefits of shopping online?
   A You can buy at any moment of the day or night
   B everything is cheap

10. How do we call those shoppers that have a long-term relationship with the brand?
    A Brand lovers
    B brand loyalist

10. Listening 1 Keys

10.1	1F	2F	3T	4T	5T	6F	7T	8F	9T	10F
10.2	1B	2A	3A	4B	5B	6B	7A	8A	9A	10B

Centro Linguistico di Ateneo
Excellence in Linguistic Training

10. Listening 1 Script

What Kind of Shopper Are You? – Audioscript 1

Do you like browsing the shops and going from one place to another to find your perfect deal? You probably would like to buy that latest cell phone that has been recently advertised on TV, but that costs an arm and a leg at your local shop. And you go hunting until you find that phone at that perfect price. So, what kind of shopper are you? You're definitely a bargain hunter.

Remember the word I used at the beginning? It was 'browsing'. You don't use 'browse' only when using the web, looking through some information quickly without a specific purpose. We use 'browsing' in another way.
There are people who love wasting their time browsing the shops, looking at something rather than for something: basically, they spend more time looking than actually buying. They are browsers.
Then, we've got the ones that as soon as they see something they just can't resist. They have to buy! The impulse shopper never uses a list, never plans in advance, but buys spontaneously. But there is the opposite, the methodical shopper who buys only what's on the list!

In some places you can haggle over the price, this is mainly done at the market. But a haggler always wants a discount, and you'll find them haggling over the price of anything because they always want to pay less, they want to get better prices on anything. I couldn't handle that stress!
And then there are the online shoppers: they dislike going to the Brick and Mortar Stores, that are physical stores. Customers can shop online at any time of the day, any day of the week, with the click of the mouse.
Brand loyalists spend on one brand because they have a long-term relationship with that brand. They return again and again to the store and they share with family and friends their positive experiences.

And you? What kind of shopper are you?