Sports_6.5

Choose the correct answer.

I can't say that my job is stressful but there is a (1) drawback / advantage to it, which is that is it sedentary. I began to notice my waistline expanding and that got me thinking, so I decided to (2) join / enter the local golf club. I know that it's not the most physical of sports but it (3) good/works for me. I get out onto the green most weekends and (4) come up / end up walking quite a few miles. People keep asking me if I go there to make more business contracts, but I can honestly say that wasn't my intention. But I have made some new friends almost as an extra bonus, and I have lost some (5) weight / fat. Sports are good for children: they help children to (6) keep fit / warm up and make friends, but competitive sports can be too (7) stressfull / stressful for them. They get extremely (8) anxious / anxiety before a competition, especially when the parents pressure their children to win. (9) Overall / Training sessions can be exhausting. (10) Competitive / Competitors sport can make a child ill. Children are not able to understand how to handle anxiety, which can inhibit performance. It has been shown that sports can be no worse than taking an academic test or performing in a school play: they all cause stress.
