07. Listening 1

Sports_7.1

Listen to Audio 1. Mark each sentence T (true) or F (false).

1. Alicia finished second in the competition. _____
2. She chose weightlifting because she didn't like ballet. _____
3. Her brother's is an amateur sportsman. _____
4. She started lifting weights although she was less strong than other girls. _____
5. She's always wanted to become a weightlifter. _____
6. She says food and sleep are also very important in weightlifting. _____
7. Her dad often repeated that you must be lucky to succeed. _____
8. In her family, everybody works hard. _____
9. When she gives up weightlifting, she'll become a trainer. _____
10. She's unmarried. _____

07. Listening 1

Sports_7.2

Listen to Audio 1. Match each given word/phrase 1-10 from the TV programme with a definition A-J.

1. Reward	A a short phrase that expresses a belief
2. Tomboy	B hard, difficult
3. Decathlete	C hard, painful work is necessary to reach the best results
4. Garage	D a thing given in exchange for something good someone has done
5. Tough	E someone who demands that their rules are obeyed
6. Strict	F an energetic girl whose behaviour is considered typical of boys
7. Background	G a person's education and experience
8. Achieve	H an athlete who takes part in ten sport events
9. Motto	I reach a result
10. No pain, no gain	J a place where cars are sold and repaired

07. Listening 1 Keys

7.1	1F	2F	3F	4F	5F	6T	7F	8T	9F	10T
7.2	1D	2F	3H	4J	5B	6E	7G	8I	9A	10C

CLA-CLT
Centro Linguistico di Ateneo
Excellence in Linguistic Training

07. Listening 1 Script

A Modern Female Hercules – Audioscript 1

Good morning everybody, today we are talking to an amazing athlete, professional weightlifter Alicia Andrews.

Q. Alicia, you've just won the university 64lbs championship, haven't you? How does it feel?
A. Good morning everybody, thanks for inviting me. Yes, I won the championship ten days ago, it was absolutely fantastic. You know, I'd been training hard for months but in the end the reward was more than worth it. When they called my name as the overall winner…

Q. What does 64lbs mean exactly?
A. Well, weightlifting is divided into a number of weight classes. 64lbs is one of the Olympic IWF women's categories, as you can guess.

Q. I understand. Teenage girls usually like ballet or modern dance. How come you chose this discipline?
A. Indeed I liked ballet too, as I child, but I would also go to see rugby matches almost every weekend, with my dad and my brother, Bob, who later became a professional rugby player. I've always liked every kind of physical activity. I'm a bit of a tomboy, so one day I wanted to become a swimmer the other day a decathlete… Anyway, my father has a garage and I often used to help there… One day, I was about fourteen, he realised that I was very strong, he was as surprised as I was, and he said "you could become a weightlifter, Alicia!"... that was the beginning, I guess.

Q. So you found the right sport to do.
A. Exactly, you know I was rather big and heavy for a girl, so I couldn't make a fast swimmer and I couldn't be a female boxer, although I did some training, again I was too heavy. Weightlifting came quite naturally.

07. Listening 1 Script

Q. I reckon you train a lot, is training in the gym the most important part of your preparation?
A. No, food is also extremely important as well as sleep. You must follow a specific diet and you must sleep regularly eight hours a day. It's a bit tough at times, but I know that if you work hard, you'll get the result you want. This is what I was taught by my father, and what I've been told so many times… I continuously repeat it to myself, too!

Q. I know that your father has been quite strict with you and your brother.
A. Yes, probably … more than quite … We both have been brought up in a background of hard-working people, I mean my parents… my relatives… I think that working hard is really important in a sport like weightlifting, where you can't achieve any result unless you give your best every day… You know the motto "no pain, no gain"? It's absolutely true!

Q. You are 22 Alicia, you must have some free time…
A. Sure I do, actually not too much because I study. I'm going to graduate in Foreign Languages. When I retire, I'm planning on travelling and visiting every country in the world! When I'm free, I play the piano, meet my friends and I see my boyfriend, Jeff.